

Bit-Start - Running to Glide

(This song was written using lyrical ideas from past songs)

Lyrics:

Though I feel I have everything
I reach and catch nothing
The wind howls on by
Though my gold is stacked high
What joy can I find here
This darkness engulfing
Yet a lamp in the distance burns
A city of light

And this fire it kindles a hope
To step forward, though doubt floods my mind
And as I go my gold topples down
In this world I created, no sight can be found
Oh hear my voice, now clear with sight
Oh it's shinin' brighter, a new story unfolds tonight
Oh I will go, my path now set in stone
A place to call my home

Now I'm runnin', runnin' away from here
As the grass withers and falls
But I believe there's more to come here
I know you'll catch me when I fall
And as the sparrow cries
I know you'll help me now to glide
I will go, till I sing on that city shore

Though the night started gloomily
My world awash in gray
I now walk under streetlights
They shine toward a new way
The past that I used to love
Only holding me in sorrow
Yet I'll go till my new heart burns
That city of truth

And this fire keeps moving me onward
A step to my feet, a flame to the beat
And as I go that fire makes me dance
My steps break free, this new song to sing
Oh will you follow, I offer my hand
Will you take my lead, in that city we both can stand
Oh we will go, a new future unfold
A place to call our home

Now I'm runnin', runnin' away from here
As the grass withers and falls
But I believe there's more to come here
I know you'll catch me when I fall
And as the sparrow cries
I know you'll help me now to glide
I will go, till I sing on that city shore

Key:

Running from Time
I'll Stand
Golden Light
Will I Stay
Gray to White
Through the Seas
Dust into Fire
As the Sparrow Falls
